

The UPFBE has received outstanding international recognition: it has been awarded EFMD accreditation for both its bachelor's and master's programs, including the Management and Leadership MSc, making it the only institution in Hungary to achieve this distinction.

This MSc programme is designed for students seeking to elevate their business knowledge to a higher level. It builds on the English-taught BA programme at UP but is also open to ambitious students with diverse business backgrounds. The programme features innovative teaching methods and regular guest lecturers from Europe and the US, preparing graduates for managerial roles or further PhD studies.

I chose this program because I had a point in my life I realized that I need skills and knowledge to lead and manage a team successfully. I am highly impressed with the quality of education, the professors create an ambience of real corporate world, so whatever we study in class it is not just the article but is highly practical.
